DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over APPLICANT'S prior art in view of DAVENPORT 4,362,955.

Regarding claim 1.

APPLICANT'S prior art (figure 2) discloses a pulsed circuit generator circuit comprising a current source for applying a current to a device under test, a controlled current shunt for shunting current from the device under test.

APPLICANT'S prior art does not disclose a booster circuit for supplying a booster current to the device under test when the controlled current shunt is opened and current again flows through the device under test, thereby facilitating recharge of a parasitic capacitance associated with the device under test.

DAVENPORT discloses a current boost circuit for a pulse generator stage for generating additional current substantially contemporaneously with pulse transitions in order to achieve fast output rise times and fall times (col. 1, lines 53-57).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of this invention to modify the Applicant's prior art to include a boost for supplying a boost current to the device under test. The motivation would be to achieve faster rise times and fall times.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-10 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art of record does not teach or suggest the MOS transistor configuration as claimed for the current boost circuit.
